

Screening for specific bone marrow failure/myelodysplastic syndrome genetic disorder in aggregate identifies a significant subset of patients with inherited bone marrow failure/myelodysplastic syndrome

Children and young adults with aplastic anemia or myelodysplastic syndrome

Patients transplanted in the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center (1990-2012)

Family history or physical examination failed to reliably predict the presence of germline mutations