

Haematologica
HAEMATOL/2018/202143
Version 4

Bone marrow niches of germline FANCC/FANCG deficient mice enable efficient and durable engraftment of hematopoietic stem cells after transplantation

Ji Zha, Lori Kunselman, Jian-Meng Fan, and Timothy S. Olson

Disclosures: 1.The funding of this work is supported by National Institutes of Health K08 HL122306 (T.S.O.), American Society of Hematology Scholar Award (T.S.O.) and W.W. Smith Charitable Trust. 2.Dr. Timothy Olson serves on the Medical Advisory Board of Novartis Pharmaceuticals, and provides consulting for Merck. However, these roles have no relationship with the submitted work.

Contributions: JZ, LK, J-MF and TO performed research. JZ and TO performed data analysis. JZ wrote the manuscript. TO supervised the study and manuscript development.