

Haematologica
HAEMATOL/2020/246629
Version 3

Genotype-phenotype association and variant characterization in
Diamond-Blackfan anemia caused by pathogenic variants in RPL35A

D. Matthew Gianferante, Marcin W. Wlodarski, Evangelia Atsidaftos,
Lydie Da Costa, Polyxeni Delaporta, Jason E. Farrar, Frederick D.
Goldman, Maryam Hussain, Antonis Kattamis, Thierry Leblanc, Jeffrey
M. Lipton, Charlotte M. Niemeyer, Dagmar Pospisilova, Paola Quarello,
Ugo Ramenghi, Vijay G. Sankaran, Adrianna Vlachos, Jana
Volejnikova, Blanche P. Alter, Sharon A. Savage, and Neelam Giri

Disclosures: DP and JV are supported by the Czech Ministry of Health Grant 16-32105A. AK is consultant of CELGENE and Novartis and and Vifor Pharma and receives Honoraria from CELGENE, Novartis and ApoPharma. CN is a consultant and is on the advisory committee for Celgene. All other authors have no conflicts of interest

Contributions: DMG and NG wrote the manuscript and performed data analyses. NG, BPA and SAS supervised the study. All authors provided data on the patients in their studies and are responsible for the reported research and have participated in the concept and design, analysis and interpretation of data, and revising the manuscript, and approve the submitted manuscript.